

CILA - Who is L3Harris?

L3Harris develops advanced technologies and solutions across land, maritime, aerospace and space domains. We are experts in electro-optic and infrared sensors, integrated communication systems and datalinks, aerospace engineering and aircraft modification, autonomous surface vessels, cyber applications, maritime vessel propulsion control and power distribution, nuclear power-plant safety control, space avionics and advanced space applications, electronic warfare, commercial and military aviation training and simulation, aviation and public security.

In Canada, we offer a broad range of multi-domain intelligence, surveillance and reconnaissance technologies, maritime propulsion control systems, advanced aerospace engineering and in-service support solutions that enable industry partners and customers to perform increasingly complex missions – everyday, from every vantage point. Our continuous drive for developing new technologies across air, land, sea, cyber and space domains enables L3Harris to deliver leading solutions for its customers on a global scale.

L3Harris Canada is proud of our strong Canadian workforce, our capable and secure selection of technologies, and our passion to innovate and engage with global Defence and Security partners. Our Canadian capabilities and specialties include:

- Electro-optical and infrared (EO/IR) imaging and targeting systems
- Design and development of fully Integrated Mission Systems
- Aircraft Fleet Management, Modernization, Modifications & Upgrades
- In-Service Fleet Support
- Integrated Logistics support for naval and air programs
- Comprehensive warship, coast guard vessel, and commercial maritime vessel automation and control systems
- Turn-key training solutions for the naval market
- Integrated Secure Communications
- C4I Systems Integration and Automation
- Military, aerospace, avionics and ground vehicle data storage solutions
- Rugged data transfer systems, data recorders

L3Harris is committed to diversity in every aspect of our business. We promote an inclusive culture that welcomes all employees and places a premium on their unique contributions to garner success. By continually investing in diverse initiatives at the corporate and local levels, L3Harris has forged stronger customer relationships and developed more innovative solutions. CILA is just one way we at L3Harris are encouraging more diversity in today's workforce by building a more inclusive future and investing in future leaders, like you.

Learn more at CILAaward.ca

